Art Unit: 1761

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on March 26, 2007 has been entered.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hager et al (4,975,288, Abstract and cols. 2-4) in view of McDonald (3,062,662, cols. 1-2) and "LMC International" as set forth in paragraph no.3, Paper No. 060706.

4. Applicant's arguments filed January 25, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Although Hager et al fails to disclose applicant's claimed coating and lollipop stick placement steps, as applicant contends, such steps are rendered obvious by the secondary references. McDonald's dip coating produces results substantially equivalent to applicant's claimed "molding around" step since molding molten candy around a chewing gum product envelopes the product with the candy, and dip coating, as occurs in McDonald, also envelopes the gum product with a candy coating. Further, the fact that applicant's molding or coating step is performed continuously as opposed to batchwise, as in McDonald, is not an unobvious advance in the art since it is obvious to perform a batch process continuously or a continuous process in a batchwise manner (In re Fong, 154 USPQ 25). Applicant's comments with regard to Knebl are deemed moot since Knebl has been withdrawn as an applied reference due to applicant's cancellation of the "rotating roller" limitation in claim 18.
